5. write conclusion and at least three recommendations.

As it is known that Amazon is one of the most famous and best sites dedicated to selling products via the Internet, this did not come by chance, as it has its own advantages from the rest of the sites, some of them: writing texts clearly, sorting products, the ability to register an account and display products of all kinds, as well as multiple payment methods, technical support, the ability to choose the required language, which is more than 7 languages, and the possibility of changing currencies.

Recommendations:

- One of the things that we suggest adding is paying in installments.
- Adjusting the price disparity between the American and Saudi Amazon because Saudi Amazon prices are higher than the American prices.
- Evaluation of used products in categories A, B & C.
